

SPEAK LIKE A LEADER

Cheatsheet

Other than the eBook and guide we have presented you with, you might need other resources to be able to learn to speak like a leader. Below we have created a list of important resources you can use so that you can more effectively speak like a leader.

Books

If you prefer to learn through books, here are some books you can read to learn how to speak like a true leader.

The 21 Irrefutable Laws of Leadership: Follow Them and People Will Follow You

This book was written by famous leader John C Maxwell who has written many books about being a leader and what it takes to effectively lead a group of people. In this book, he talks about why communication is one of the most important concepts when it comes to leadership.

The Psychology of Persuasion

We touched on the psychology of persuasion in the ebook, but this guide goes into the top much deeper. If you want speak like a leader, you know that it's very important that you know how to be a persuasive communicator.

This book covers six different ways that you can communicate with people and logically and emotionally change their minds and hearts.

Communicate Like a Leader

If you want to be promoted in the workplace, you first need to be able to communicate well. This will allow you to get up the corporate ladder much faster because you can not only talk to other coworkers, but also convince the current leadership why you will be a good fit to join them in the leadership ranks.

This book also talks about how you can strategically communicate better as a leader including negotiations and how to speak and write like a leader.

Podcasts

If you want to communicate like a leader, listening to podcasts about communication can allow you to be more intentional about the way you are speaking and how you are communicating to others.

Think Fast Talk Smart: Communication Techniques

When speaking to others, you want to make sure you are using the proper communication techniques depending on who you are talking to and what you might be talking about. Communication is very critical when it comes to business and your personal life. This podcast gives examples of real life challenges and how you can solve them through communication.

Careers by Jenn

This is the podcast for you if you're worried about how you communicate in the workplace. It covers many different challenging topics in the workplace and how you can effectively communicate about them to improve the relationships you have at work.

High Performance Leadership

This podcast is unique because it focuses on the emotion part of leadership and speaking as a leader. When leaders lose their connection to emotion, it can be harder for them to communicate with workers and other leaders in the business.

Jeff Shirk, the speaker on this podcast, covers how you can use tools at your disposal to use emotion to speak better and connect to others.

Speech Writing Tools

Part of speaking like a leader is that you want to be able effectively write speeches that are intentional and engaging. Here are some resources that can help you with speech writing.

How to Write & Give a Speech

This book is written by Joan Setz who also write many other books about communication and how to effectively get others to hear you. This book is all about the different aspects of speech writing including how to research speeches, how to write speeches and how to effectively deliver a speech.

Journaling Thoughts and Speech

If you want a good place to brainstorm speech ideas and the topics you might want to talk about, this journal is perfect. There are some blank pages where you can write whatever you want and other more structured pages to give you ideas about what to write.